Children's Mental Health Week

#Care #Collaborate #Grow #Achieve

This week the children have been thinking about mental health related to this year's theme, 'Let's Connect'.

They have taken part in a range of thought provoking lessons and activities which the class teachers have been sharing on their Twitter accounts, so please do take a look at what the children have been getting up to.

On Wednesday, we gathered together for a whole school assembly where we explored this year's theme. The children were challenged to make connections with the people around them but without speaking. It was a lovely moment as the children spontaneously high fived, shook hands, hugged, waved and smiled. We finished off by reflecting on the connections within our school, our neighbourhood, the UK and finally the world.

I do hope you have found the daily emails useful with recommendations for further reading around the subject of mental health. My thanks to Miss Dunn for researching and collating these texts.

Bikeability

#Care #Collaborate #Grow #Achieve

It is wonderful to have the Bikeability Instructors back with us post Covid and we have been extremely lucky with the weather.

As a school we take safeguarding our children very seriously and Bikeability is an essential part of the children's personal development with regard to road safety. We know that many of our Year 6's will be biking to high school in the near future and this programme develops their road sense.

Well done to all our Year 6's who have taken part, we can see you growing and achieving everyday right before our eyes.
