

New Phonics and Spelling Rules

| | | | |
|--|--|---|--|
| an : grand / France / dimanche / pantalon | | é : éléphant / caméléon / araignée | |
| on : cochon / crayon / pantalon | | ez : regardez / marchez | |
| en : vendredi | | er : danser / sauter | |

Due to the rule of liaison, we can hear the 'd' in 'grand' and BOTH 't's in 'petit' when they come before a noun that begins with a vowel. Eg un petit âne gris / un grand éléphant rouge.

L' (the) is used in front of nouns starting with a vowel: l'abeille / l'âne / l'éléphant

New Grammar Points

Adjectival position: In a French sentence, most adjectives follow the noun.

| | |
|--------------|---------------------|
| un lion vert | une libellule verte |
| un chat bleu | une panthère bleue |

Adjectival agreement: The adjective changes its sound and / or its spelling to 'agree with' a feminine noun.

| | |
|---------------|-------------------|
| un petit lion | une petite souris |
| un grand lion | une grande souris |

Some adjectives such as 'grand' and 'petit' come in front of the noun. They also change their sound and spelling when describing a feminine noun.

There are four words for the definite article 'the' in French: le, la, l', les
